Charm squares are fabric squares. You can buy these pre-packaged, like these 5 inch squares seen here, or you can cut your own, like these. Charm squares can be fun to collect. Quilters like to have fabric exchanges, where they trade squares. The object is to come up with as many different squares as you can. This is a fast and fun way to build up your stash. You can also put these charm squares into quilts. Charm square quilts are quilts where no two fabrics are alike. A few years ago, my quilt group decided to make an eye spy quilt. Eye spy quilts are quilts with pictures in the fabric that you can spy. We had a five inch charm exchange. I used the charm squares to make these fat chicks, or chubby chicks.
