begin to cut my strip. What’s most important is to have at least one straight edge on all of your strips to make it easier when we begin to sew. After I cut the strips, I like to lay them out so I can see each fabric. I’ve divided the warm colors and the cool colors. begin to cut my strip. What’s most important is to have at least one straight edge on all of your strips to make it easier when we begin to sew. After I cut the strips, I like to lay them out so I can see each fabric. I’ve divided the warm colors and the cool colors.

In the next video segment, I will go over how to sew the blocks together.
